

8 Απριλίου 2015

οής

Our soul's like a tank

full of water. If you pour water from it onto flowers, that is, the virtues, the part of goodness, you'll feel real joy, and your sins, the thorns, will atrophy.

But if you pour it onto the thorns, they'll spread and choke you and all the flowers will wither.

» Venerable Porphyrios of Kavsokalyvia

Source: pemptousia.com