

Wealth

doesn't destroy and neither does poverty. What does destroy is bad intentions, which cannot use either of these states properly.

Intentions beget more intentions and just as a flame burns more fiercely the more it's fed with wood, the same is true of intentions. Evil and virtue aren't the result of nature, but of the intentions.

>Saint John Chrysostom

Source: pemptousia.com