

(Theologian)

A faithful friend is a living treasure, a fenced off garden, a sealed well which opens from time to time and offers the riches of its soul.

When I say friends, I mean those who are good and kind, whose friendship has been cultivated on the basis of their virtue.

» Saint Gregory the Theologian

Source: pemptousia.com