

15 Μαΐου 2017

All our lives, with courage (Saint Symeon the New Theologian)

Ξένες γλώσσες / In English

We will avoid the condemnation of our conscience, the pollution of our hearts and, above all the aversion of God when we make conscious use of our time and tread the path of this life in justice and wisdom, bearing with courage the burden and heat of the day all the days of our whole life.