

Turkey's Fener Greek Patriarchy among now online panoramic photos

Ξένες γλώσσες / In English / Γενικά Θέματα

Αυτή την κληρονομιά που αρνούνται οι σημερινοί “προοδευτικοί” Νεοέλληνες, αμφισβητώντας τα Χρυσόβουλα και “ξεχνώντας” την ύπαρξη του Βυζαντίου, είναι πολλοί άλλοι που περιμένουν πως και πως να την οικειοποιηθούν. Οι γείτονες μας διαφημίζουν την Οθόδοξη κληρονομιά

...Σχόλιο από VatopaidiFriend

Friday, 13 March 2009 13:14

Fener Greek Patriarchy building is now available on an online virtual panoramic tour as part of a project to promote cultural riches of Istanbul, Turkey's largest city and its biggest commercial hub. The virtual tour is available at "<http://www.360tr.com/istanbul/kiliseler/istanbul-fener-rum-patrikhanesi/>" and it is part of "Istanbul: The Common Project of Humanity," the project manager Imdat Demir said on Friday.

"The project aims at creating a global awareness of the multi-cultural structure of Istanbul, and synagogues, churches and mosques of the city are part of this virtual tour project," Demir said.

The virtual tour brings all chambers of the Patriarchate building and its premises with guidelines in Turkish and English.

Πηγή