[Although revealing much about Turkey's performance in Cyprus, the source article may go too far. This is a sensitive subject. People of one nationality condemn whoever gives a hearing to the other. One side may be 80% right, but discusses the issues as if 100% right. Please explain your disagreement with the report, instead of calling names over it.]

In the Republic of Cyprus, Greeks and Turks got along poorly. Each nationality committed crimes against the other. In 1974, more radical Greeks tried to make a union with Greece [which made the Turks there feel that their security was in danger.] In response, Turkey invaded Cyprus. Cypriot armed forces were no match. The Turkish air force bombed Famagusta, seized it, looted part of it, and they sealed off the wealthy tourist section, to this day. The Greeks fled to the southern part of the island.
