Christmas x 2

Ξένες γλώσσες / In English / Ορθόδοξη πίστη

For as far back as I can remember real icicles, angel hair ornaments and tacky silver tinsel, I got to celebrate Christmas twice each year: the first on December 25th with most of the Christian world, and the second on January 7th with other Orthodox families. I didn't really care why I celebrated twice, but I was told we followed a different calendar.
