

2 Μαΐου 2009

Orthodoxy. The Best-Kept Secret

Ξένες γλώσσες / In English

By Fr. Peter Gillquist

He who seeks, finds.

When we came into the Orthodox Church in 1987, I started getting telephone calls from newspaper reporters and radio and T.V. people in cities I was about to visit. Often, they were responding to a news release sent out by a Church where I was to speak. They generally wanted to hear more about our story of 2000 evangelicals becoming Orthodox. They would ask me about charismatics and Episcopalians coming as well.

Then, almost always, before the end of the interview, they would insert, “Well, is this a trend?”

My answer was, “I’m not prepared to say that.” I would often add, “I think it will be one day.” But I felt it would be hype to call it a trend. (περισσότερα...)